Sodium Savvy

Have a taste for salt? Many of us do. Unfortunately, salt plays a key role in high blood pressure. Even kids and teens can benefit from eating less salt. There's about 2,300 milligrams of sodium in 1 teaspoon of salt. These tips can help you eat less:

Choose fresh. Fresh foods are usually lower in sodium than processed foods like frozen dinners, deli meats, canned foods, pizza and salty snacks. Eat these foods less often or opt for smaller portions.

Choose foods with less sodium. Check the Nutrition Facts label and choose foods with a lower percent (%) Daily Value (DV) for sodium on the label, especially if a family member has high blood pressure, diabetes, or kidney disease.

Cook at home with your family! Preparing your own food puts you in control of how much sodium goes into your meals. Add flavor to foods with herbs, spices, lemon, lime, and vinegar instead of salt or seasonings high in sodium.

Choose school meals. Schools must meet nutrition standards for meals, including limiting the amount of sodium. School Nutrition professionals use herbs and spices, other than salt, to season food.
